

Press release
Frankfurt am Main, February 19, 2021

Städelschule is pleased to share a couple of artistic projects that were developed in the last weeks as class projects or independent student projects as response to the on-going pandemic (and therefore cancelled Rundgang). We are happy to stay in touch with you through the following programs:

Willem de Rooij Class: Raum I7

An ongoing class project

Arhun Aksakal, Rosario Aninat, Rasoul Ashtary, Samuel Baah Kortey, Jackson Beyda, Larry Bonchaka, Theresa Büchner, Tamar Chadunelli, Agnese Galiotto, Donghoon Gang, Isidora Gilardi, Atiena Kilfa, Fuki Matsumoto, Rosa Elisa Nietzsche, Willem de Rooij, Wessel Rossen, Elsa Stanyer

On the occasion of the former Städelschule Rundgang, the Willem de Rooij Class has produced a website containing a selection of texts spoken by students in a language of their choice. The website uses the familiar interface of Zoom video communications software; each window shows the vacant spaces of studios, bedrooms, offices or kitchens. Raum I7 meditates on the space between assembly and event through intimate moments of sharing.

Rungdang

An online performance by students

Within Rungdang a group of students from different classes activates our buildings in Dürerstraße 10 and Daimerstraße 32 with performances, political actions, light installations and sound pieces – which you can join via a live stream:

Stadl: Schtorona

A radio show organized by the record label Stadl

STADL, an artist-run record label collective formed by students of Städelschule, is pleased to launch their first radio show marathon Schtorona as part of radio x on the occasion of the non-happening Städelschule Rundgang.

During our radio waves invasion, we will offer our transmission as a platform for our peers and other guests where we will discuss different topics ranging from music to the isolation of our studio practice, as well as playing mixtapes and sound works from our members. This program will mark our starting point for a series of events that will unfold in the upcoming months at off-site locations, having sound as our thread.

We warmly invite you to be part of our live launch of "Schtorona".

February 19–21, 2021, daily 6–7 pm via radio x on 91,8 FM or livestream: <http://www.radiox.de/media/html5-livestream/livestream.html>
